

The WEEK

By A. M. Brayton

SMOOTHING things over is one of the jobs of diplomacy, but too often the smoothing process applies only to the surface. Perhaps we shall come out of the peace conference with gentle words all around, but the difference which has arisen between Great Britain and France will probably continue to rankle deep down in international politics.

The sum and substance of it is that England and France are preparing for war. Not that either of them wants war, but that each of them fears the other and wants certain things badly enough to fight for them.

The immediate evidence of this situation is the quarrel over submarines, but the foundation for that quarrel lies in the differences of opinion and purposes which have been growing up between the two countries ever since the armistice. These things had in part to do with settlements in the past. They touched Poland and Turkey. More immediately they have had to do with the German arrangement. France, hit harder than England, is more concerned with the colonies and indemnities than with the restoration of commerce, upon which England lives. France, nearer to Germany than England, wants military protection against Germany strong enough to exact the letter of its peace contract from Germany. Over these matters a bitter quarrel has arisen between England and France.

England does not accept France's view that the latter wants submarines for defense against Germany. The reason is simple. Germany has no merchant marine. Great Britain lives upon commerce carried on through its merchant marine. The submarine is primarily a weapon against commerce. Germany showed what a deadly weapon! British opinion holds it obvious that France wants submarines not as a weapon against Germany, but to strike at British commerce in case of war with Great Britain.

During the week this situation was brought into the open. Balfour, British representative, made no bones about it in the peace conference. The British press called a spade a spade, charging that "France has stepped into Germany's shoes," and that France "is playing the same part at Washington as Germany played at the Hague conference." London newspapers warned France that her course will cost her the sympathy of the United States.

During the week the Literary Digest published a summarized statement of several hundred American newspapers as to whether the United States would aid France in case of another German attack. Opinion ranged all the way from the absolute negative to the supreme positive. It may be said that a majority of press opinion in the United States was that America would not leave France to its fate in the case of such an attack, although a surprisingly large number of editors insisted that French security should be established by the United States accepting membership in the league of nations.

However, these opinions are based upon a possible assault upon France by Germany. What the answers would have been had the question raised been one of a submarine attack upon Great Britain by France is an interesting inquiry. America's sympathy for France is based upon tradition and is deep seated. But like Great Britain, America is interested in commerce and its merchant fleet would be vulnerable to submarine attack. America wants peace. France is the stumbling block.

During the week frequent references were made to a plan being worked out by the Harding administration looking to other conferences, among them one that would discuss the situation in Europe. Such a conference promises to become a necessity vital to the maintenance of peace.

ARMS CONFERENCE NEARS ADJOURNMENT

THREE HELD IN NEW YORK IN CONNECTION WITH BIG MAIL ROBBERY LAST JULY

ARCHBISHOP SAIGH TO SAY MASS WITH GREEK RITE SUNDAY

Pontifical High Mass Will be Said According to Oriental Rule

TWO RECEPTIONS PLANNED DURING STAY OF PRELATE

Public Invited to Meet His Grace Tuesday Evening

PONTIFICAL high mass will be celebrated at 10:15 on Sunday morning in St. Joseph's cathedral by the Most Reverend Maximus Saigh, archbishop of Tyre, according to arrangements which were completed on Friday.

The Oriental prelate will perform the service according to the Greek Rite, instead of the customary Latin Rite. It is announced, the first occasion of its sort in the history of the cathedral. The entire service, as used in the Greek Catholic church in the Orient, is said to be markedly different from the customary form of Roman Catholic worship. The vestments worn by the celebrant follow the ancient Byzantine pattern, and the service is in Greek. Some forty altar boys are now being trained to take part in Sunday's services, and special music will be sung for the occasion.

After the gospel a sermon will be preached by Rev. Philip Salmone, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes on the north side, at whose home Archbishop Saigh is a guest during his visit to La Crosse. Father Salmone said that he would endeavor, in his address, to explain the differences and the reasons for them in the Oriental Rite.

On Monday the pontifical high mass will be repeated by Archbishop Saigh at St. James church, on Calumet street. In the evening a reception will be held for His Grace at Father Salmone's home, and on Tuesday evening there will be a public reception given in honor of the archbishop at the K. C. hall, by the Knights of Columbus.

Archbishop Saigh will leave on Wednesday for St. Paul and Duluth.

COURT ORDER BARS STATE BOARD FROM REVOKING LICENSE

MADISON, Wis.—A court commissioner in Barron county has just served an injunction against the Wisconsin Real Estate Board's board restraining it from revoking the license of Thomas Mason, former board member, who resigned early in the year, according to word received by R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general.

Hearing will be held on application of the state body to dismiss the injunction before Judge W. R. Foley of Superior. In the meantime board members are prohibited from discussing the case or from considering it among themselves or with others.

Constitutionality of the act creating the board is questioned by Mason.

MEETING TO DISCUSS FARM RELIEF CALLED BY THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON.—Acting at the direction of President Harding, Secretary Wallace was extending invitations Saturday to farmers organizations and representatives of industries associated directly or indirectly with agriculture to attend a national conference here probably within a month to "suggest practical ways of improvement" for "the severe agricultural depression which exists throughout the land."

MRS. ABE ATTELL ONE OF THE TRIO ARRESTED TODAY

Theft of Million and Half in Bonds Becomes Known When Arrests are Made

NEW YORK.—A mail theft of $1,500,000 in bonds on July 18, 1921, became known Saturday with the arrest of Mrs. Abe Attell, divorced wife of the former pugilist, Sam Gold and Harry Cohen, by postoffice inspectors and members of the police bomb squad.

The bonds, with a face value of $1,477,000, were stolen somewhere enroute from the federal reserve bank, New York, to the treasury department in Washington.

Some had been cancelled by perforation and others were stamped "Paid" but the stamp was removed by chemical and many of them passed.

The charge against Mrs. Attell, who said she divorced the boxer in California five years ago, was attempting to pass altered government bonds. The two men were charged with conspiracy.

COLD WEATHER AND GALES WILL USHER IN THE NEW YEAR

WASHINGTON.—The new year will be born to the eastern half of the United States on the wings of the wind, both figuratively and literally speaking, the forecasts of the weather bureau indicate.

A disturbance descending from the frigid northwest was central early Saturday over north Lake Huron. The disturbance, described by the bureau as a severe storm, is attended by westerly gales, and with a forecast that it would reach the Atlantic coast by night, a storm warning was issued for that portion of the coast between Norfolk, Va., and Eastport, Maine.

Colder weather also will attend the coming of the new year, the bureau stating that lower temperatures might be expected Saturday night and Sunday in the lake region, the Ohio valley, Tennessee, and the West Gulf states and by tomorrow in the Atlantic states north of Florida.

BEHAVE OR MOVE IS NEW MAYOR'S WORD TO THE WRONG-DOERS

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio.—George L. Oles, eccentric mayor-elect, who takes office at midnight Saturday, issued an open letter to the underworld in which he warned wrong-doers that they will have until January 7 to "move up, drink up, pack up, and move or behave."

Sunday, Oles stated, he will address the city policemen and "give them hell."

The letter to the underworld says: "I am going to give the underworld in this city one week's notice to leave up, drink up, pack up, and move or behave. I am going to give you this week's grace because I feel down in my heart that it would be a shame to pull you all in and take the last dollar from you in fines and fill our jails to overflowing."

THE WEEK'S WEATHER

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Weather predictions for the week beginning Monday are:

Region of the Great Lakes—Considerable cloudiness and occasional snows; temperature near normal.

Upper Mississippi valley—Generally fair except for rains or snows over southern, and snows over northern parts about Tuesday; temperature near normal.

JUDGE KIRKLAND DEAD
MADISON.—Judge R. B. Kirkland of Jefferson, prominent member of the state bar, died Saturday at his home. He was 72 years of age.

SHOOTSELF ACCIDENTALLY IS CLAIMED

Eighteen-Year-Old Onalaska Boy, Earl Hom, in Hospital With Bullet Wound in Head

GOSSIP IN CITY TELLS OF DISAPPOINTMENT IN LOVE

Family Denies Story and Says that the Shooting Was an Accident

Earl Hom, 18, Onalaska, is lying at St. Francis hospital in a critical condition with a bullet lodged above his left temple, resulting from an accidental discharge of his rifle, members of his family said.

In Onalaska today it was said that young Hom had been keeping company with Ruth, sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cuhorn, for over a year. He had repeatedly asked the girl to marry him, it was said, but because of her youth, and on advice of her parents she had rejected his proposals.

On the afternoon when the shooting occurred, the Hom boy went to the Cuhorn home and had a talk with Miss Cuhorn. He again asked her to marry him, it is said, but she refused. He then offered her a little signet ring, asking her to keep it in remembrance of him, as that was the last time she would see him.

The girl became frightened and called her mother, who called the boy into an adjoining room. It was said, and gave him a motherly talk. The boy left the Cuhorn house at 4 o'clock. An hour later the family heard that Hom had been shot.

Dr. Wolfe, who is in charge of the patient, reported Saturday morning that Hom had not regained consciousness since the shooting. The bullet, he said, was lodged outside of the skull cavity. It was thought he would recover.

Family Denies Story
A rumor that the shooting was prompted by a love affair with some girl in the city of Onalaska was denied by members of the Hom family Saturday morning.

The story of the shooting as told by Miss Verna Hom, sister, to a Tribune and Leader-Press reporter, was that her brother had evidently been dragging the rifle across the room when it was accidentally discharged. Mrs. Hom and younger daughter were at Davis Junction at the time. Earl had been alone. He had been instructed to prepare the evening meal for his father, who came from work at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The sister declared that Earl was conscious when her father arrived home. The boy was said to have made the statement to his father that "it was an accident," he "did not mean to do it." She said that her brother intended, as was his usual custom, going out into the woods "to shoot sparrows" because it was too early to start preparing the supper.

FAR EASTERN PROBLEMS LOOM AS NAVAL AGREEMENT IS REACHED

JAPAN IN NOTICE TO CHINA SHE'LL CONCEDE NO MORE

Insists on Demand for Control of Operation and Jap Capital in Shantung Railroad

WILL SEEK TO PREVENT DEBATE IN CONFERENCE

Whole Chinese Program of Reform Seen in Collapse

WASHINGTON, D. C.—From all indications the Washington conference will adjourn without consideration of "possible causes of controversy in the far east," referred to by President Harding in his call to the nations.

Vice Foreign Minister Hanihara said Friday evening that Japan would oppose any attempt by China to bring the Shantung question before the conference or the far eastern committee, which meets next week.

"This is not a court of arbitration," he said. "The conference is not sitting as judges. The will of other nations cannot be imposed upon us in this matter."

Decide to Stop "Yielding."

Japan's final instructions from Tokio regarding Shantung make it plain that there must be no more yielding to China. The Japanese offer to give China title to the railroad, retaining a certain administrative control, while insisting the money for the purchase is to come from Japanese capitalists, stands as final, boycott or no boycott, war or no war.

"It is a matter of right. We are only asking what other nations enjoy in Chinese railroads," said Mr. Hanihara.

Dr. Wang-Chang-Hui, Chinese delegate, said that China could not accept the offer and that he would take the first opportunity to ask the conference to consider it as a world problem and a possible cause of conflict.

So this is a deadlock, and when the delegates of the great powers can afford to give it a little attention they will find here an issue graver than the Franco-British controversy.

End of Perfect Dream

For bound up in Shantung is the whole question of removal of "spheres of influence" from China. With that gone, England will refuse to give up Wei Wei Wei, and France, who really made a generous offer, will now find it necessary to hold on to Kwangchow.

The fine Chinese program falls like a house of cards.

Not only has Shantung fallen by the wayside, but the conference, according to a British spokesman, will find it impossible to consider the famous twenty-one demands.

The Japanese have already flatly refused to permit the conference to review these treaties.

Dr. Wang said he was hearing from Peking every day. Officially the delegates are instructed to get what they can. They hinted of a reaction in China when the results of the conference are known.

Reaction May Hurt U. S.

This reaction, it is hinted in some quarters, may touch American as well as Japanese trade. The Japanese regard the new boycott with apprehension.

In the far eastern landscape looms also the shadow of a Russian war. The Japanese profess to regard as unimportant the report that the Red army of South Russia is organizing to drive the Japanese from Siberia. Men acquainted with conditions there predicted a war by spring, in which Chinese neutrality will again be violated, and Manchuria be a new battle field, with the Chinese the passive if not active aid of the Russians.

CHIMNEY FIRE AT SKAAR'S

A chimney fire occurred in the home of Mrs. M. Skaar, 415 South Fifth street, at 12:50 Saturday noon. The call was answered by apparatus from Central fire station. No damage was reported.

Powers Agree To Division of Cables of Yap

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—A tentative treaty whereby the Netherlands as well as the United States and Japan gets cable rights on the island of Yap, was agreed to Saturday by the heads of the delegations of the Big Five in the Washington conference and of Holland.

Great Britain and Italy accepted the arrangement with reservations, the former indicating that British interests might also desire certain rights on the island and Italy claiming an interest in one of three cables to the island.

The arrangement allots the Yap-Guam cable to the United States; the Yap-Shanghai cable to Japan and the Yap-Menado cable to Holland.

Some of the delegates appeared to feel that final settlement of the question could not be reached without assent of all signatories of the treaty of Versailles. Yap is a former German possession in which all the former enemies of Germany might claim an interest.

SIMONDS SAYS:

French Stand Has Paralyzed the Arms Conference

(By FRANK H. SIMONDS) (Copyright, 1921.)

WASHINGTON.—The Washington conference remains completely paralyzed from the crisis precipitated by the French decision in the matter of the submarine. Slowly but surely the fact becomes patent that the American capital, supposedly the scene of a peace conference, has been the field of another historic collision between two European rivals.

Dr. Hoover once described the present conference as "a red carpet leading to a party." By "party" he meant an economic association of nations. Today, Washington's first reaction is that there "ain't going to be no party." Again as so often in the past, three years, economic rehabilitation waits upon the accommodation of political questions.

Still of War Mind
Looked at from the broader viewpoint, the real problem raised by the Washington conference was whether the world and the European world in particular, had progressed far enough from war conditions and war psychology to make the work of economic reconstruction possible. The answer was written Wednesday. It emphatically has not.

France and Great Britain came here to fight for American endorsement for their European policies. In the battle the British won. French diplomacy was pliable and French strategy hopeless. But what the British representatives neglected to take into account was that the French had the veto power in the conference and the exercise of the veto power would lead to disaster in the conference.

After Wednesday every American can perceive how things stand in Europe. They can perceive that until Great Britain and France can compose their quarrels economic reconstruction is quite impossible. We have been permitted to sit in reserved seats at our own party and see our guests fight. That is the long and the short of it.

Center Shifts to Europe

Now the situation moves to Europe. No one imagines, despite Mr. Balfour's speech, that Great Britain and France are on the verge of war. But what is clear beyond peradventure is that there can be no economic restoration in the world until France and Great Britain are able to strike a new bargain. They may do it at Cannes; they may do it at a later conference in London or in Paris; but until they do it there is not going to be a party.

FRENCH ACCEPT ROOT CODE FOR SUBMARINE WAR

See in it Satisfaction of British Claim for Protection of Merchantmen

DRAFT TREATY INCLUDING POINTS SO FAR ACCEPTED

Final Completion of Naval Pact Expected Shortly

PARIS.—By The Associated Press.—The French delegation at Washington it is understood in official quarters Saturday, already has given hearty assent to the application of international law to the operation of submarines which, in the French interpretation satisfies the demand of Great Britain that submarines in time of war be prohibited from torpedoing merchant ships.

Naval Program Nearly Complete

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press.—The end of the naval limitation work of the arms conference was definitely in sight Saturday as the naval experts of the powers turned to the task of working out detailed agreements on the program now virtually disposed of by the full naval committee which was in adjournment today until next week. At the same time the Root subcommittee took up today the drafting of the Root proposal, agreed to in substance by all the powers, to reaffirm existing rules of naval warfare against merchant craft and declare their application to submarines and invite adherence of all nations.

Agreements by the naval committee yesterday on aggregate tonnage limitations for aircraft left for disposition on the limitation program only the proposal to limit future auxiliary craft to 10,000 tons and their armament of guns of not more than eight inches. Approval was given this proposal by all delegations but the French who deferred formal answer pending advice from Paris which are expected to permit the committee to complete the naval limitation agreement next week. It will then take up also the second Root proposal to prohibit entirely the use of submarines against merchant craft, insurances regarding which are now awaited by both the French and Japanese.

Treaty in the Making

A five-power treaty embodying all the points upon which agreement has been reached already is in process of drafting and will include the capital ship agreement, the agreement on airplane carriers, the displacement limit.

STORK INCREASES POPULATION EIGHT HUNDRED FIFTY

An increase of 150 births over last year's records, according to statistics compiled at the Register of Deeds office, proves that the stork is still on the job. Eight hundred and fifty babies were born in the county last year.

No triplicates were added to the census figures as compared with one triplicate last year, but eleven sets of twins were born as compared with seven in 1920.

This is probably the largest increase in births that the city has ever had in a year. December's figures will not be available until January.

The La Crosse Tribune and Leader Press extends congratulations to the 1921 additions and their parents.

FRANCO-BRITISH CLASH AGAIN ON FRENCH SUB PLANS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Another bitter clash between the British and French delegations over the motives underlying the French submarine building program took place at the first session of the conference committee on limitation of naval armaments Friday.

Lord Lee of Fareham, seeking to justify British fears of French aggression, cited the published utterances of a member of the French naval staff, which commended Germany's unrestricted submarine warfare on merchant and passenger ships and hailed the submarine as the means of overthrowing Britain's naval power.

France Sensitive About Debts

Admiral de Bon and M. Sarraut, in the name of France, repudiated the French officer's statements as representing the intentions or views of the French navy or French government. M. Sarraut expressed bitter resentment of the British suspicion of France and of the tone of the publicity criticizing France, particularly such as had France pay her debts before expanding armament.

Lord Lee challenged the French to demonstrate their good faith by assenting to the Root resolution, prohibiting the employment of submarines against commerce, and M. Sarraut intimated such assent would be forthcoming in formal instructions from the French government.

Officer Aims at Britain

Lord Lee quoted excerpts from the French officer's defense of torpedoing merchant ships without warning, concluding with this quotation:

"Thanks to the submarine, after many centuries of effort, thanks to the ingenuity of the man, the instrument, the system, the martingale is at hand which will overthrow for good and all the naval power of Great Britain."

After Admiral de Bon had repudiated the French officer's utterances, M. Sarraut said any misunderstanding of the French attitude could have been dissipated by inquiry.

"I am well aware," he continued, "that every day in the press we witness a campaign of bitter criticism launched against the motives of France, to the end that our country is imperialist and militarist. We have borne these attacks calmly and in silence, not wishing to embitter the discussion by replying to them, although we have been given to understand that even before reconstituting our defensive forces and before thinking of again fortifying our country against renewed devastation, we do well to pay our debts. We feel no shame for those debts nor do we forget them; we regard them with pride, as the wounded man his scars."

be real old fashioned peace in the world.

Meantime the question of the hour is how completely the Washington conference is going to be wrecked. All depends upon the Eastern questions. A clear, definite and comprehensive settlement here might restore the situation, but unfortunately there is no present promise of this. On the contrary, the news which comes alike from Chinese and Japanese sources is frankly void.

The Japanese whisper that no more concession on Shantung is possible. The Chinese reply that their representatives will not sign the prospective nine power treaty as it stands or as it seems likely now that it will ultimately stand.

It is suggested that Japan might now win great American applause by bowing to American public sentiment. But it is equally strongly pointed out that the temptation to follow the French example is tremendous. The western powers are no longer united; why should Japan yield more? Failure here will be charged to France; but success at Japanese expense would help the United States more than anyone else.

Japs Tinker With Treaty

Moreover, the Japanese are now at work remaking the four-power treaty. Everyone knows now that Mr. Balfour was responsible for the extension of this treaty to cover the Japanese homeland, Mr. Balfour wanted it to cover the pride of Australia and New Zealand both of which wanted an American guarantee against Japan—if the Anglo-Japanese alliance was to be eliminated.

Now Japan wants the treaty amended, the United States, with the senate fight coming up, wants it amended, but there comes the problem of Australia and New Zealand.

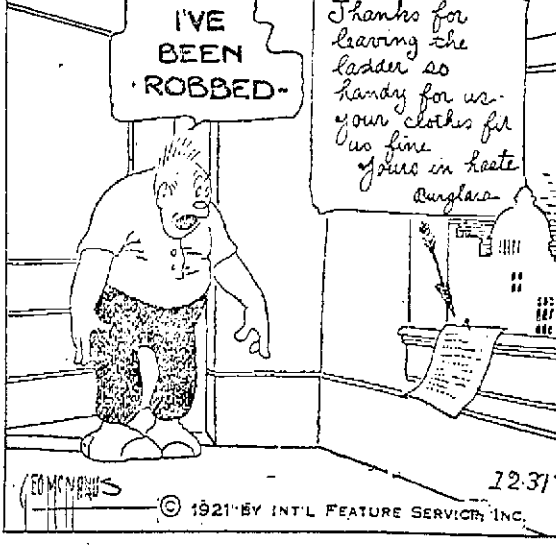

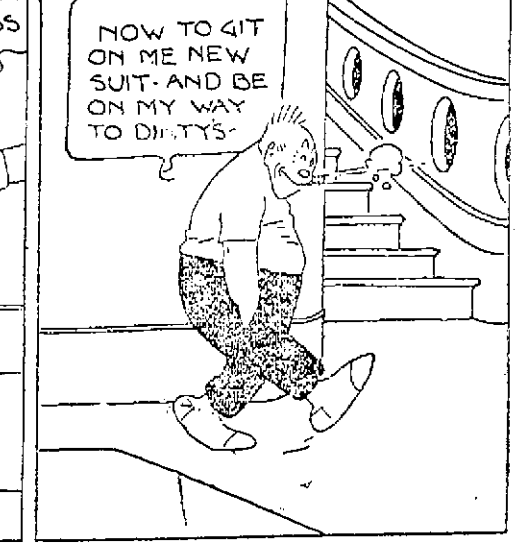

If Japan goes out how can New Zealand and Australia be retained accepting Mr. Balfour's original argument that dominion pride would not permit that the dominions receive more than Japan? But if Australia and New Zealand go out, then what if they still desire that they have some guarantee to take the place of the Anglo-Japanese alliance? May they not ask that the old alliance be preserved and the proposed treaty scrapped?

Treaty Under Fire?

Every American agrees that the treaty must be amended if it is to pass the senate. Every Japanese agrees that Japan will not now stand for the assault on Japanese self respect which the treaty discloses. But how can the British square the circle of their own dominion prestige? There is the pending question.

But beside the Anglo-French clash all else is subordinate, insignificant. The main thing the world asked, required—proof of the existence of an atmosphere of peace in the world—a "red carpet" leading to a real economic conference with political disputes exercised—to use Mr. Hoover's figure—can that be achieved now? At best the program of salvage for the conference does not get off the ground. At the end of each conference only a few of the great powers are discussing secret disagreements publicly.

WOJAHN AND NIGGLI FILE BONDS; LIQUOR HEARING ON JAN. 11

George Abdo, also Raided by Dry Agents, Pays Fine on Old Gambling Charge

William Wojahn and A. Niggli, a bartender, appeared before County Judge Bradley late on Friday and entered pleas of not guilty to charges of selling intoxicating liquor at the Old Style Inn. The saloon was raided by state prohibition agents on Thursday night. Bail was set at $500 each, for hearing on January 11. Wojahn furnished bonds for both himself and the bartender.

Nail Abraham stated Saturday that the statement that he was a partner of George Abdo, whose pool room and soft drink place at 209 Pearl street, was raided Friday morning by dry agents, is incorrect. He said that he has not been Abdo's partner for a week or more, maybe several weeks, that he and Abdo parted their business relations after he and Abdo were arrested on a charge of maintaining a gambling resort at the Pearl street address, following complaint of a Milwaukee man that he had been defrauded out of $500 in a poker game.

Friday afternoon Abdo, following his arraignment on charge of selling intoxicating liquor, paid a fine of $50 and costs of about $11, then was hanging over his head since his conviction a month ago for running a crooked gambling game. Nail Abraham, his partner at that time, was fined a similar amount. According to county court records, Abraham has not paid his fine or court costs yet. Abraham was named in the gambling case along with Abdo.

THE WEEK

water route to South America and the Panama canal, opening up Pacific commerce to this state without railroad intervention. Governor Blaine does well to bring this subject as vividly as possible to the attention of the state of Wisconsin.

Farmers meet in St. Paul in a conference aiming at the establishment of short time farm credits such as are available to merchants and other city business men. Incidentally, they have set up the proposition that farmers are as much entitled to government guarantees of farm profits as are railroads to government guarantees of railroad profits. They say the farmers provide and the railroad transports the country's food. Like the railroads, farmers have a certain capital investment, and certain overhead expenses. The argument is one that will arrest attention. Production and transportation are both necessary, but production is even more necessary than transportation. However, farmers should remember that if they put the farm along side of the railroad in the class of quasi-public corporations, the government authority to guarantee profits, if it actually exists, carries with it government authority to limit profits. It will be remembered that during the war the government fixed a price for wheat. At first it was satisfactory because it stabilized the product at a level that looked good to the farmers. But later on, when the demand for wheat indicated that a free market would have carried the price upward, farmers became discontented with the government price. It may be that we are coming to a period in which the law of supply and demand will have been so largely denatured by artificial practices that the government will limit the prices of all commodities. That carries with it a loss of individual initiative which probably would be disastrous to Americans. Possibly a majority of the country will at no distant day arrive at the conclusion that whenever it becomes necessary for the government to guarantee the income of a public utility or a basic industry, the better course is for the government to take it over and operate it for the people. The success of such a step, however, would doubtless require a new process of efficiency in public service.

The character of a government and the society which it represents finds a measure of interpretation in its language, and developments can sometimes be traced by changes in language. It is interesting to note in the week's news that "Comrade" as a salutation of the Russian revolutionists, has given away to "Citizen" and "Citizenship" borrowed from the French revolution. "Mister" has not returned to usage, because that would be a concession to the hated bourgeoisie. History repeats, "Mister" or its equivalent, and became a strong type of republic, out of all experiments in government comes the final adoption of the things that can be done in an unregenerate

BADGERS SPENT FOUR MILLION FOR PERMIT LIQUOR DURING 1921

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—About $2,000,000 was spent for prescription whiskey in Wisconsin during 1921, James Stone, federal prohibition director, said in a statement issued Saturday.

Mr. Stone said that about 720,000 prescriptions were issued and that the average fee was $3. This will make the total cost of the prescriptions $2,160,000. With the whiskey averaging $2.50 a pint, the 720,000 pints sold would amount to $1,800,000.

"There are 1,000 Wisconsin doctors having permits to prescribe whiskey," said Mr. Stone, "in almost every case the doctors prescribed the full amount allowed—one pint—and used all of 100 prescriptions issued to each every three months."

world, in which human nature is the only permanent dictator of the race, tribal, bourgeois and the aristocrat.

As Irish peace approaches, India becomes more militant. England is like a lion with a large head of chickens, describing the stretch of British dominion, Daniel Webster once said.

"After morning dream, rising with the sun and keeping company with the stars, envelopes the world with one continuous strain of the martial airs of England."

In the naval negotiations England has to bear in mind the necessity of keeping open long lines of communication, and at the end of each line there are domestic problems. This England and a new Ireland in India? As to aspirations of the respective people, there is a likeness, but the similarity goes no further. It will be considered in many quarters that Irish progress and prosperity suffered by English rule. Doubtless, on the other hand, India is centuries ahead because of British rule. That will not satisfy India and viewed in the light of centuries the Indian problem is the more difficult. There is a kinship of race between Canadian England and American Ireland. Between England and India lies the abyss of different races with different religions and traditions, and different habits of thought. Kipling, a British poet, told the story when he said:

"East is East, and West is West, And never the twain shall meet."

Some people think this lies between America and Japan in our efforts to understand each other, but the Japanese claim white antecedents.

Many Americans are incensed at the news that the British government in India has killed several hundred native rebels within the last few weeks. But go forthin Anglinda in the Philippines. When we become critical of Great Britain, we may pause to recall what one of our poets said to England in the latter years of the civil war. Before the war the British press had condemned the United States as a slave-holding country. When the North fought the South to free the slaves, the British government threw its influence on the side of the Confederacy, and it was Oliver Wendell Holmes, who it not, who said:

"But yesterday you scarce could shake, With slave-aborring rigor, Our Northern palms, for conscience sake; Today you grasp the hands that ache With whiplapping a Nigger."

ation for auxiliary craft, and the resolution finally accepted regarding submarines.

With progress in the naval negotiations clearing the way for resumption of the far eastern discussions possibly next week, the problems remaining to be settled there had received additional emphasis today. In the statement of one of the Chinese delegates that they would attempt to transfer the Shantung issue into the full conference to break the deadlock in their negotiations with the Japanese. At the same time, the latter maintained yesterday their position that the Shantung question was not on the agenda of the conference and did not come within the scope of its deliberations.

British Plan to Sail Jan. 14

Sports Association Awards Contract For Construction Of Warming Hut At Lagoon

The board of directors of the La Crosse Outdoor Sports Association at a special session Friday evening awarded a contract for construction of a warming hut at the Polleine lagoon to Louis Knutson, contractor.

Blue prints of the structure call for a portable building 18 by 20 feet in dimension. Contractor Knutson declared that work on the building would be started today and would in all probability be finished within a week or ten days.

Included in the furnishings and equipment of the new structure will be a check room, where extra clothing may be kept at a small cost while skating, and a counter where hot coffee and doughnuts, together with other refreshments will be served. A continuous bench will line the entire space of the building.

The association plans to keep the building open during the afternoon and until 10 o'clock in the evening. The building will be constructed at the shores of Mr. Knutson and set up in the park.

COUNT TOLSTOY WILL SPEAK AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Count Ilya Tolstoy, son and literary heir of Leo Tolstoy, the eminent novelist and philosopher, will deliver his great lecture, "The Truth About Russia," at the Normal school on January 6, under the auspices of the Twentieth Century club.

Tolstoy has recently returned from Russia, where he made a careful study of the political and economic conditions in his native country. He is a man over fifty years of age, uses excellent English and is the image of his father. Everywhere he has been speaking to packed houses—at Carnegie hall, New York; Symphony hall, Boston; before women's clubs, chambers of commerce, and leading societies such as Yale and University of Pennsylvania, where fifteen hundred people were unable to gain admission to the hall.

During the past eight months, articles by Count Ilya Tolstoy on the Russian situation have appeared in twelve leading magazines, including Century, Review, Everybody's, etc. He knows more about Russia and speaks with more authority upon this subject at present of most vital interest to the whole world, than any other lecturer or writer.

Tolstoy is anti-bolshevik. This is not because he is a royalist or a capitalist in his political views; nor because all his land and personal possessions were confiscated by the bolsheviks, as in fact they were; but because he is opposed to all class-rule, whether by capital or by labor.

His lecture contains interesting material regarding bolshevism in America and a proposed solution of the labor problem.

Tickets may be secured at Heber's or through members of the Twentieth Century club.

FAMOUS JAZZ FIVE TO PUT JOY IN RIVOLI'S "ALL-JOY WEEK" BILLS

All Joy Week is the Rivoli's contribution to the joy of nation next week. The idea is to combine the movies and the "speakers"—or vaudeville—in one delightful whole which shall hand everybody a laugh and a bit of pleasurable excitement.

Gloom is sternly barred. No "problem plays," no "sex stuff," just straight-out rollicking fun and thrills is the recipe.

One of the chief agents of this new proposition at the Rivoli is to be the famous Mar Quintet, five of the comedy's classic exponents of the jazz idea.

The Mar Quintet has made quite a reputation in the east in vaudeville on account of their versatility. Besides playing a number of different instruments each member of this organization also sings.

Billy Bowen, the clarinetist is often called Ted Lewis, the second, and every member is a soloist of exceptional merit. An excellent "blues" singer and dancer makes up the balance of the joy program.

ILLINOIS ATTORNEY PROBES CONDUCT OF MASSAGE PARLORS

CHICAGO, Ill.—A radical reform in Chicago's massage parlors where third business men are massaged by feminine attendants, was promised Saturday by Assistant State Attorney Milton D. Smith after hearing additional reports from investigators.

Among those brought in for questioning were: Iridah Johnson who conducts an establishment in the Loop and her assistant, Lydia Berglund and Madame Hilda Bohman, who also had a downtown place and her assistant, Pauline Anderson. All were indignant over the "insult" to their profession. They readily admitted their business was the massaging of men, which they said was all right, but denied that any improprieties took place in their establishments.

OLD TIME CUSTOM AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ON SUNDAY

An "old time" Christmas custom will mark the close of the Yuletide services at First Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. The central feature will be the "lighting" of the yule log, which in early days was always brought into the parsonial hall with much ceremony, lighted after midnight and song. The sparks were supposed to flash good luck and happiness throughout all the days of the New Year, and effort was made to keep it burning as long as possible. Then, a portion of it was often preserved until the next Christmas.

It is this idea of "Christmas" all the year" which the young people of this church will emphasize. There will be carols and scripture responses, symbolizing the "sparks" which keep a mind will bring success and peace throughout the year. This will be followed by a series of "fire-side talks" in which appropriate sacred songs will be expressed in some of the familiar tunes of days gone by. A few choice numbers from the cantata of last Sunday evening will conclude the program, part two, of which is as follows:

"Home Fires of Faith" (tune—"Keep the Home Fires Burning") Solo by Mrs. W. J. Jover, and chorus.
"Guide Me O Thou Great Jehovah" (tune—"In the Morning") Solo, Iva Peace.
"Jesus Be Thou Near Me" (tune—"Silver Threads Among the Gold") Duo, Florence McPherson and Bess Gelsenheimer.
"I Cannot Breathe Beyond Thy Love" (tune—"Ten Bells") Solo, Stella Trane.
"Faith's Prayer" (tune—"Faith's Prayer") Solo, Stella Trane.
"Love's Old Sweet Song" (tune—"Love's Old Sweet Song") Duo, Viola Martin and Phyllis Richter.
"A Bethlehem Lullaby" Solo, Dorothy Woods and chorus.

Enjoying to the utmost an assignment to a post in the good old United States after two years in Hawaii, Captain George R. Longbrake, former pastor of the Universalist church here, and his better half are now located at Fort Worden, Wash., according to a letter received by H. C. Rogers from the army chaplain.

There is so much of interest in the episode to old friends in La Crosse, that I am prompted, with permission of Mr. Rogers, to publish parts of the letter, as follows: "Fort Worden, my new station, is only three miles across an arm of the sound from Fort Viger. But short as the distance is, it is a world of work of packing and unpacking. So you see, including the move from Hawaii, we have lived the fourth time within that many months. This last move was in accordance with a general order that in every camp area, every possible small camp, fort or station would be abandoned in the interests of the economy wave of the army. Fort Flagler is one of the four forts of the coast defenses of Puget Sound of which I am chaplain and it was the one to be temporarily given up. Fort Worden is the larger one of the quartet; it is the headquarters and a very beautiful post, right on the very edge of Port Townsend. So in addition to the facts we are glad to feel that we are now settled for some time to come. We thought our quarters in the new post at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, were splendid, but the quarters here are much better. The climate is truly wonderful for a place so far north. It is very much like a beautiful middle fall season in La Crosse throughout the winter, except during February, when it gets quite cold. Roses and a few other flowers bloom outside every month during the year."

La Crosse is about to lose a good citizen in the transfer of Claude Johnson, manager of Kresge's since the store was opened here, to a larger post with the same firm at Topeka, Kan. While this is a fine promotion and Mr. Johnson is entitled to the congratulations which he is receiving on every hand, he will, nevertheless, be missed in the Chamber of Commerce, and church, lodge and social circles where he has been active and where he has left the impress of a genial disposition and forceful personality.

Willis Brindley, son of Judge and Mrs. John Brindley and native of La Crosse, following a journalistic bent which took him far afield soon after getting out of college, is now contributing to a number of the best known magazines, in addition to devoting a larger part of his time to a manufacturing business out on the western coast in which he is interested.

Always an adept in juggling the queen's English, Willis displays a versatility in his recent writings which is rather remarkable. His activities as an author range from snappy short stories to weighty business subjects. I recall two stories published in recent magazine issues, one "Ma Voigt" printed in the January, 1922, Snappy Stories, and "The Blue Bandanna Bandit," published in the October Number. Trade and business articles which he has written lately include "Photos Instead of Samples" published in Printer's Ink; "Coupons Rightly Used Bring Business to Advertiser," printed in Western Advertiser; "Sending Letters Instead of Salesmen," published in System, and "Sifted Garrett," published in Success.

B. W. Brandenburg, former resident of the Gateway city, state county work secretary of Wisconsin, M. C. A., has been selected as the new national international boys' work secretary of the M. C. A. His office will be in Chicago and he takes his new position January 2. Mr. Brandenburg served the La Crosse association for two years, was graduated from the state university and later became the boys' work secretary at Wausau. Then he was chosen by W. H. Wong, state boys' work secretary, to serve under the war work council during the war, continuing to take up the work of the county department. One of his largest services for the boys of the state was the development of the state camp for cherry pickers at Sturgeon, which became one of the largest boys' camps in the world. Eight hundred are enrolled each season.

I note by a recent issue of the Arkansas Press, Texas Progress, that John P. Bird, La Crosse traveler and sportsman, has arrived at that point for his annual sport with the ducks. Enroute to California to spend the winter, Mr. Bird always stops at Arkansas Press to enjoy a few days in the blinds when the sporty mallard and teal are flying, and I am told he usually gets his share of the birds. When he has had his fill of shooting, Mr. Bird passes his guns and fishing rods and goes on to California to spend the rest of the winter. Accompanying Mr. Bird on the southern and western trip this season are Miss An-

ORPHANAGE KIDDIES ENJOY CHRISTMAS AT DOERFLINGER STORE

Two Hundred and Twenty-two Youngsters of St. Michael's Entertained

Two hundred and twenty-two youngsters, children of St. Michael's Orphanage, were given full sway on the second floor at Doerflinger's Friday afternoon when the annual Christmas party for the orphanage children was given by William Doerflinger.

A large space in the middle of the floor was cleared and given over to the little ones, who more than had a good time, riding about on hobby horses and otherwise taking advantage of the entire toy department of the store. There was much jollification among the little tots as well as the older ones as they enjoyed their annual party at the store.

After the children were let in a grand march in and about counters, they marched single file past Santa Claus and each was presented with a box containing candy, nuts and other goodies, characteristic of Christmas time. They were divided into three classes, according to age, the larger boys receiving footballs and knives, the younger ones, trains, tool chests, etc. The girls were also presented with suitable gifts.

The youngsters, too, were given the privilege of purchasing their own presents with "store" money, presented to them in a little package. Each one was also given a number which entitled them to a present on which was placed a corresponding number. The presents were to be delivered at the orphanage after the party.

M. P. Hayes, transfer company, who for years has brought and returned the children, again transported the children this year.

na M. Hanson, his sister-in-law, and Mrs. W. R. Montague. The party will arrive home on the last day of April, just in time for Mr. Bird to throw his rods and reel into his car and "beat it" for Trout Falls to join Dan MacMillan, Harry Curtis and the other chaps who always open the season of angling for speckled beauties on the upper La Crosse river.

Professor D. H. Shepardson, principal of the Lincoln and Hogan schools, says that Christmas morning was changed to Fourth of July at his home, 502 North Seventh street, when the water-back of the kitchen range blew up and scattered pieces of iron, kitchen utensils and loads of fire all over the back room. Two chickens which stood on a nearby table ready for the roaster were black as coal when the smoke blew away. Fortunately no one was injured and the family finally enjoyed a belated Christmas dinner at 2 p. m., minus two chickens and a few other viands which had participated in the kitchen melee.

It's Major James A. Pickering now. The popular and efficient regular army instructor sent here to teach members of the field artillery command how to use those French guns and a few other things about the art of soldiering can no longer be referred to as "Cap." The last issue of the Army and Navy Journal tells of the promotion of Captain Pickering to the rank of major. Local militiamen join in congratulations.

BOTTOM TOUCHED LAST JULY; NOW THE COUNTRY'S CLIMBING

Course of Trade in 1921 Steady Progress in Deflation of War Bulge

BY ALBERT APPLE
CHICAGO.—The business outlook is that 1922 will be a much better year than 1921.

Business depressions began with the collapse of the silk market in May, 1920. After twenty months on the down grade, the basic industries, with exception of farming, seem definitely on the mend.

The bottom of depression was reached in July, 1921, when iron and steel—the key industry—began climbing.

Prices Lower
Price deflation made rapid strides during 1921.

Striking an average in the wholesale markets, you now can buy for $1.48 what cost $1 in 1913 and $2.72 in May, 1920, the peak of inflation. The figure was $1.71 in January, 1921.

Cost of living also deflated materially during 1921. The wage earner now pays about $163 to get what cost him $100 before the war, $205 in July, 1920, and $181 in January, 1921.

Wholesale prices of farm products have dropped most, with metals and metal products second.

The short cotton crop boosted the price in 1921. This was counterbalanced by slump in wheat and corn prices. Average farm prices are only about ten per cent higher than in 1913.

Exports Grow
Total American exports slumped from $8,228,454,014 in 1920 to about $4,500,000,000 in 1921.

The falling off, however, was mostly due to lower prices.

In weight or volume of business, exports of raw materials in 1921 increased 34 per cent over 1920. Exports of foodstuffs gained 27 per cent. Manufactured goods decreased four per cent in weight.

Rapid Changes
During 1921, banks that are members of the Federal Reserve System reduced their loans about $2,000,000,000.

Bank clearings in United States during 1921 totaled about $350,000,000,000. This was about 22 per cent less than 1920, due largely to lower prices. Clearings in 1921, however, were more than twice as much as in 1913.

The steel industry starts the new year, running 50 per cent capacity. Last July it was down to 18 per cent capacity. Steel men look for the next boom to start with heavy buying by the railroads.

Copper industry may revive before steel. Stocks of surplus copper in United States have been reduced 40 per cent in the last six months.

America's gold stock increased $800,000,000 in 1921.

Building is 45 per cent better than a year ago, expressed in money spent. Much larger, allowing for price reductions.

New Companies
New companies incorporated during 1921 had total capital stock of about $7,700,000,000.

Nearly 10,000 business firms failed during 1921. That's more than twice as many as in 1920, also greatest since 1915.

In rough figures, railroads in 1921 moved 22 cars of freight for 37 in 1920 and 34 in 1913.

SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM FEATURES WORK OF COUNCIL

Two New Schools Completed and Third Under Construction During Past Year

FIFTEEN MILES OF STREETS RESURFACED DURING YEAR

Water and Sewer Extensions Require $60,000 Expenditure

A comprehensive building program, involving the construction of three new schools, additions to the vocational schools, together with a quite complete street improvement program, which called for a bond issue of $125,000 were the big achievements of the municipal administration during the year of 1921.

The common council, during the past year, authorized bond issues totaling $212,000 for the construction and completion of school buildings in the city. This amount in addition to the approximate $350,000 bond issue for 1920 for construction of schools gives an idea of the immensity of the construction work undertaken by the city. A $15,000 bond issue for additions to vocational schools was authorized by the city body.

$650,000 on Schools

According to estimates made of the cost of construction the entire project, including furnishing the buildings with necessary equipment, an expenditure of $650,000 will be required. This estimate placed the cost of the Junior high school and Washburn schools at $225,000 each, with $125,000 for the Hogan building. In addition it was estimated that $25,000 would be required to furnish each of the buildings.

The street resurfacing and reclaiming program which is distinctly arduous with the city of La Crosse in that the work was completed without cost to the abutting property owners, was a particular feature of the common council activities. Approximately fifteen miles of streets were resurfaced through a bond issue of $125,000.

In addition to the regular street improvement program the city expended in the neighborhood of $75,000 in other repairs and improvements included in the general program of the city's thoroughfares. Included in this amount was the money expended as the city's share of grading and opening new streets and alleys, together with placing curbs and sidewalks on the same. The construction of new sidewalks also came under this expenditure.

Water-Sewer Extensions

For the purpose of additional water and sewer extensions completed in the city during 1921, the common council authorized a bond issue of $60,000, $30,000 being used for each. The following streets are those where water and sewer extensions were installed:

Sewer Extensions

A 6-inch water main on 17th Street and a 6-inch water main on 20th Street from Cass to Main St. A 6 and 8 inch water main on Wood and Hayes Street. A 6-inch main on Dayton and Barlow Streets. An 8-inch main on La Crosse Street from the Park gate to Joyce Boulevard. A 4-inch main on 17th Street from Cass to Main Street. A 4-inch main on St. Paul and George Streets.

The new bridge, spanning the Black River from Copeland Park to French Island required and expended as the city's share of $29,760. The work was completed and opened to traffic in June. The West Channel bridge, constructed in 1920, for which the city assumed the total responsibility, cost the city $8,500, according to the comptroller's report. The train shed at the market square was built at a cost of $7,807.

A project, which has made the city one of the most popular stop-over places for tourists during the summer months is the establishment of a tourist camping grounds in Denibene park. When fully completed next year, the grounds will be supplied with a cookhouse, long distance telephone, comfort stations and a more adequate lighting system.

Minor Improvements
Minor improvements about the city for which the 1921 council is responsible is the installation of about fifty new street lights and several new drinking fountains. Money was appropriated for repairing the White Way and also the work of remodeling and improving the Twelfth street playground.

When fully completed next year, the grounds will be supplied with a cookhouse, long distance telephone, comfort stations and a more adequate lighting system.

Ingratitude Always Monstrous
Ingratitude is monstrous, and for the multitude to be ungrateful were to make a monster of the multitude. —Shakespeare.

Record Building Year
Outstanding among the favorable developments in the city during 1921 is the large amount of building done. One hundred and forty-one residences built or in the course of construction during the year of 1921 was the figure announced by J. J. Frisch, tax commissioner, denoting the amount of construction work carried on in the city of La Crosse during the past year.

Sixty of these residences were built on the north side leaving eighty-one for the south side. Forty-nine of those constructed on the south side were built south of Main street. The total figure does not include additions, but merely new residences. It was announced that this amount of residence construction in a single year has never been equaled.

The Hogan school was completed during the year. The Washington school at Eighth and Main streets is half finished. Work on the Logan school, commonly known as the north side high school, will be finished during 1922, it is expected.

New Plant Erected
The Sisson-Solestad-Haugen company is erecting a new modern wholesale grocery house on the site of its old building in the 100 block in North Front street.

Various local manufacturing and jobbing houses have made interior improvements and erected small additions to their plants.

The Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and power company finished work on a high power transmission line connecting the La Crosse electric plant and the hydro-electric line from Chippewa Falls with Sparta. Another line from Sparta to Virgoun is now in course of construction.

Retail merchants of the city enjoyed a fine year's business. La Crosse is enjoying a greater prestige each year as a trading center for residents of the rural territory within a radius of 75 miles. The automobile and road are bringing larger numbers of shoppers to the city from nearby points each year.

La Crosse is the greatest trading center between the Twin cities and Milwaukee.

FAMOUS ARTIST OF RECORDS ON MAJESTIC BILL

Murray Hill Headliner in Big
Monday Show Opening
New Policy

Big time vaudeville with a vengeance will mark the commencement of the Majestic theatre's new policy on Monday, with seven acts of the best country offers and the best of the show. The bill, it should be understood, will be a complete change from the seven acts of Orpheum talent which will appear on Sunday only at the Main street house.

And in addition there will be a feature picture—Alice Brady in "The Dawn of the East."

Murray Hill Comes
Perhaps the feature of the Monday bill will be the appearance of the famous Murray Hill, a vaudeville artist, who is known beyond the limits of big time vaudeville because of his long term of popularity in phonograph records. He has put in three years with Victor, three with Edison and five with the Columbia people. In the meantime playing all the big vaudeville circuits in person.

Other acts of the Monday show include Meyer and Noll in a "song and step review," Chase and Janis, Yone and Paul, Japanese novelty experts, and Emerson and Eddison, a musical comedy. Chase and Janis present an unusual high class and exclusive offering of specially written songs, and character sketches with some graceful dancing. The comedy chatter is new, charming, many laughs from the audience, and their special songs are fun and catchy. The little lady is dainty and pretty and has abundance of personality while offering her songs, displaying several beautiful costumes.

Drawing Monologist

Ralph Seabury has his audience guessing from the moment he makes his entrance, without any orchestral introduction. This young chap walks quickly out on the stage and asks, "Is Mrs. Seabury in the house?" Upon receiving no reply, he continues, "Good, that's my wife. Now that I know she isn't here I can talk a little more freely." He then launches into a story of how he met his wife, deftly illustrating the subject in an expert way.

He takes a name of some gentleman, puts it on the board and makes a picture of the name given, which brings roars of laughter. After his finish, this splendidly original and versatile illustrating monologist starts a beautiful Irish ballad and at the same time skillfully draws a most effective picture illustrative of the song.

The Bill Sunday
Featuring the Majestic bill for Sunday only is a musical sketch called "Little Gate," and described as "20 minutes of love, laughs and lingerie." It is a romance of French village featuring Martin E. Lee and Baby Dorothy Olive, a tiny maiden with a winsome appeal of childhood and unconscious stage wisdom for one of her age. There will also be six other acts of Orpheum vaudeville.

"CONFLICT" PROMISES
REVOLUTORY THRILLS FOR THE "ALL JOY WEEK"

Thrills aplenty are promised for the week—"Conflict," with Priscilla Dean, the end of the week, with an entire new change of vaudeville as well as pictures, brings Charles Ray in "Two Minutes to Go."

Standing out as the dominant feature, however, is Priscilla Dean in "Conflict." The picture is magnificent in its finest direction, photography, story, and suspense.

The Priscilla Dean of "The Wildest of Paris," and the Priscilla Dean of "Conflict," are one and the same, yet totally unlike.

Priscilla Dean of "Conflict" is the finished actress, excellent in her emotional repression as well as her outbursts of temper. Delicate human touches are characteristic of the Priscilla Dean of "Conflict." She is the keen student of the art of expression, her very soul is in her work.

Hidden behind the air of mystery of the "Conflict" is a serial story of recent "Red Book" numbers is Priscilla Dean's amazing characterization of Gwynne Remaile.

The terror, the horror of a ghastly, lonely house on the hill, haunted with an age-old curse, and a veritable dream in the form of an old woman, are in the grasp of Miss Dean's most recent triumph.

MOVIES AND VAUDEVILLE
IN ENTERTAINMENT OF MAJESTIC PATRONS

With two seven-act vaudeville shows, booked for Sunday and Monday, the Majestic theatre might be thought to have deserted the movies—but patrons who attend will find the good, old screen still much in use, despite the speaking stars and the vaudeville by a Sunday comedy "Grand Mal" and on Monday the lovely Alice Brady comes for a three-day stay in "Dawn of the East." That is, two movies for Monday, but on Tuesday, when the vaudeville program will be different, the Brady picture will share the screen with a Fox News reel and a "Hank" comedy, "The Baby."

Vaudeville and Mary Carr, comedienne, will star in "The Baby," which is the last half of the "Hank" comedy. The most captions could not fail to be delighted with the remarkably beautiful and accurate reproductions of Chinese streets, houses, gardens, and interiors seen in "Dawn of the East," in which Alice Brady opens Monday at the Majestic. Sothe scenery was designed by the story, much of the action is laid in China and the structure of the picture is given the production of unusual interest.

Among the sets is one of the Chinese streets and gateways through which the bank of a river and night scenes in the Almond Blossom, a notorious person of a dozen nationalities and interiors expertly done in the colorful fashion of old China.

Appearing with Miss Alice Brady, the picture is a Russian picture, "The Love of a Russian," and a picture of a Russian and a picture of a Russian.

including several Chinese actors from the Chinese theatre in Boyers street, New York.

La Crosse Girls Given Chance to "Try Out" for Pictures
Next Monday

Would you like to see the actual making and taking of a motion picture photograph, visit a movie studio, see the brilliant, high-powered apparatus throw their wonderful white light, see the painted faces of the "movie" actors and actresses?

Would you like to feel a few moments of "Studio Excitement" and imagine for a short time you were in Hollywood, Cal?

Would you like to hear the camera click, the lights buzz, the director's orders, the actors' protest for each other? Would you like to become a movie actor or actress?

Would you like to be chosen as a screen beauty?

Would you like to see yourself on the screen?

Would you like to have the most engaging and instructive evening in your life?

If your answer to all these questions is "Yes," read on.

The Riviera Theater has an unusually novel attraction booked for next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The stage of the playhouse will be transformed into a real "movie" studio, where all the excitement mentioned in the opening of this article will take place in addition to the regular high class feature picture program, at regular prices.

A skilled director and his staff will "shoot" comic and dramatic scenes on the stage, between the first and second shows, and will give a few local screen applicants an opportunity to satisfy themselves if they have the qualifications of a movie star.

It may be added that a number of people now successful as screen players owe their start to Mr. M. Hyman, who will direct the scenes here.

In addition to the acting try-out, a beautiful beauty contest will be held, the audience will be given a wonderful close up screen test absolutely free which will be sent to the Famous Players-Lasker, Inc., New York City. Now then, if you want to see something different, have a delightful evening's entertainment, break in to the movies, or enter the beauty contest, or be photographed in the audience, your chance is here, as all the Riviera, Jan. 2, 3, 10, and 11. Applicants apply at the box office, but they must be over 16 years of age.

ROAD PROGRAM IS COUNTY'S GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT IN '21

La Crosse's Policy is a Good Road into Every Rural District in the County

ANY BRIDGES BUILT AND MUCH MACADAM ROAD LAID

The foot roads that "Kept Us Out of the Mud" Widened

LA CROSSE county's greatest accomplishment in 1921 was its road and bridge program. At the annual meeting of the county board of supervisors, a bond issue of $1,000,000 was voted to continue the road program inaugurated in 1921 during the coming year.

MACADAM PAVING DONE

Among the notable accomplishments in macadam construction during the past year are the following: The completion of Trunk Line No. 1, on St. Joseph's Ridge to the Middle Ridge Church, including four miles of new macadam and surfacing.

The completion of the Irish Coulee Road in the Town of Barre, comprising one and one-half miles of heavy grading and macadam and five culverts and also three-quarters of a mile on the same road in the Town of Barre.

The Barre-St. Joseph's Ridge Road, one mile of macadam. The Garretts Coulee Road in the Town of Barre, consisting of one mile of macadam is under construction.

One mile of the main Westville Valley Road in the Town of Barre was surfaced.

On Federal Trunk Line No. 108, between West Salem-Mindoro Road, there have been completed two and six-tenths miles of resurfacing to a width of 24 feet and two miles of the same road widened to eight feet.

The widening of the course of stone road-rail construction on the Ridge portion of the South Salem road has been widened eighteen feet for two and one-quarter miles.

On Federal Project 144, from the La Crosse-Mindoro Road, is under construction the County, and one and one-half miles of 18-foot macadam has been completed. This project is being constructed under the plan of the state and Federal governments, and the work includes grading of the road through the La Crosse-Bremer land, with soil, heavy grading and filling and construction of a new and larger bridge on what is known as the Rockpepper Road.

On Federal Project 52 in the Town of Holland, comprising one and one-half miles of 18-foot penetration macadam was completed. This project is a part of the Hunter's Road.

Trunk Line 11, the Hunter's Road in the Town of Holland, has also been under construction, and two and one-half miles of 18-foot macadam completed. In addition to this two and a half miles of the old macadam road has been widened to a width of eighteen feet. There remains about one and two-tenths miles of the Hunter's Road to be built. About one mile of this road has been built upon stable foundation, and the remainder leading to the bridge will also have a stable foundation.

Many Bridges Built

The Smith Valley bridge in the town of Campbell has been completed and opened to travel at a cost of $12,000.

The Neshaunee bridge in the Town of Hamilton has just been completed. The approximate cost of this bridge will be $22,000.

The French Island bridge was completed and opened to travel in June. The cost of this bridge was $98,000.

The following small bridges were built in the Towns as follows: Town of Washington, 3 bridges; Town of Campbell, 2 bridges; Town of Onalaska, 1 bridge; Town of Holland, 3 bridges; 6 culverts and 1 culvert without; Town of Greenfield, 2 bridges; Town of Farmington, 7 bridges were built and completed, and 2 culverts; Town of Burns, 4 bridges and 1 culvert; Town of Bangor, 3 bridges.

Actual Work Accomplished

The highway department work accomplished in 1921 in figures follows: Number of square yards of foundation for Tarmac, 43,344

Number of square yards of macadam, 142,572

Number of cubic yards of earth removed for grading, 29,300

Number of miles oiled, 62

Number of bridges built, 10

Number of culverts built, 23

Maintained—St. Trunk Lines, 81 miles

Maintained—Prospective Lines, 65 miles

Total Disbursements, $491,616.45

"During the past year, I believe, there are two noteworthy facts which should receive special attention," wrote John Hinton, county highway commissioner in his annual report to the county board. "First enlargement and a more comprehensive policy in regard to the building of roads. Second, the great financial gain and economic help that has been brought about through the direct operation of stone quarries by the county."

County Road Policy

"The policy of La Crosse county during the past ten years can be summed up in a few words:—A good road into every rural district in the county. This in the main has been accomplished so the policy has been more than comprehensive. Now, in addition to getting a hard surfaced road before every farm in the county."

The old nine foot is being made and will be made into a new eighteen foot highway, thus giving the opportunity for right and left hand drives. This nine-foot road, besides having made it possible to "keep out of the mud" for years, can now be used as the center foundation of the eighteen foot road. Four and a half feet of stone macadam has been added to each side of the nine foot road. A top layer of four inches of tar pavement will be put over this entire road. This policy of making direct use of the nine foot road has meant the saving of thousands of dollars for the county and also the accomplishment of eighteen foot road much sooner than would otherwise have been possible. For proof of the wisdom of this policy, ride, drive, or walk over the finished road. You can take either the Mindoro Road, the Hecaton Road, or the South Salem Road.

"Perhaps you have only noted that the county is operating three fully-equipped and well-run stone quarries. These stone quarries have been leased and equipped at some expense. The question naturally arises, 'Is this expenditure practical?' We can emphatically answer, 'Yes.' The money saved and the quality of material on the road proves the fact to us. All the stones used for the Hecaton Road came from the Hecaton Quarry. All the material used for the Mindoro Road came from the Mindoro Quarry. The stones used to build the South Salem Road and Schenckpepper Swamp came from the Wolf Quarry. There is but little doubt that the Wolf Quarry has paid for itself in one year. The operation of these quarries by the county has also been the big factor in the rapid work that has been accomplished."

The question naturally arises, 'Is this expenditure practical?' We can emphatically answer, 'Yes.' The money saved and the quality of material on the road proves the fact to us. All the stones used for the Hecaton Road came from the Hecaton Quarry. All the material used for the Mindoro Road came from the Mindoro Quarry. The stones used to build the South Salem Road and Schenckpepper Swamp came from the Wolf Quarry. There is but little doubt that the Wolf Quarry has paid for itself in one year. The operation of these quarries by the county has also been the big factor in the rapid work that has been accomplished."

County Road Policy

"The policy of La Crosse county during the past ten years can be summed up in a few words:—A good road into every rural district in the county. This in the main has been accomplished so the policy has been more than comprehensive. Now, in addition to getting a hard surfaced road before every farm in the county."

The old nine foot is being made and will be made into a new eighteen foot highway, thus giving the opportunity for right and left hand drives. This nine-foot road, besides having made it possible to "keep out of the mud" for years, can now be used as the center foundation of the eighteen foot road. Four and a half feet of stone macadam has been added to each side of the nine foot road. A top layer of four inches of tar pavement will be put over this entire road. This policy of making direct use of the nine foot road has meant the saving of thousands of dollars for the county and also the accomplishment of eighteen foot road much sooner than would otherwise have been possible. For proof of the wisdom of this policy, ride, drive, or walk over the finished road. You can take either the Mindoro Road, the Hecaton Road, or the South Salem Road.

"Perhaps you have only noted that the county is operating three fully-equipped and well-run stone quarries. These stone quarries have been leased and equipped at some expense. "KILLING" OF EAGLE AT WEST SALEM IS FOUND TO BE HOAX

State Conservation Commission Starts Inquiry Following Publication of Story

GAME WARDEN GAUTSCH LEARNS TWO MEN WERE MERELY JOKING

Stuffed Eagle and Shotgun Used to Simulate Terrific Battle

As the result of an illustrated story in a Milwaukee paper, intended to show the prowess of two West Salem hunters, one armed with a rifle and the other a camera, who were supposed to have slain an eagle, the Wisconsin State Conservation Commission has been aroused over what the commission thought was the wanton destruction of eagle and ordered an investigation of the case with a view to possible arrests.

Conservation Warden J. W. Gautsch of La Crosse was ordered to investigate the case in the following letter from W. E. Barber, a member of the state commission and chairman of the division of wild life conservation:

Barber on the Trail
"Mr. J. W. Gautsch, Dear Sir:—We are herewith enclosing a clipping which was sent us of an eagle shot in the vicinity of West Salem, Wis. We suppose it is West Salem, La Crosse county. Will you please investigate this case? As you understand, eagle, are protected and this man had no right to destroy this bird. This is the third complaint that has come to us of eagle being killed we propose to stop the practice of shooting them, W. E. BARBER."

Mr. Gautsch's first move was to give the clipping the "once-over." This is what it said: "Front Eagle Falls After Battle, West Salem, Wis.—While prospecting for banks around the crevices of Table Mountain, near here, S. R. Barnett and Angus Leitch of West Salem, came upon a huge eagle. One of the men was armed with a gun and the other carried a camera. The accompanying action pictures tell what happened. From the way the proud bird fought, according to Mr. Barnett, he must have been a descendant of old Abe, Wisconsin's famous war eagle. After a fierce fight it was necessary to dispatch the bird with the stick of the gun. The big eagle measured six feet from tip to tip."

The illustrations that embellished the article showed a hunter with gun pointed at an eagle, with wings spread wide, just rising, apparently, out of some brush. The other view showed the same hunter with gun clubbed, ready to strike the prostrate eagle which was lying, still with wings outstretched, on what might be the side of a mountain or a hill or a bump of ground.

Librarian Aids Gautsch
The first thing that aroused Mr. Gautsch's suspicions was the reference to "Table Mountain" in the story. He had never heard of a Table Mountain in this neck of the woods and a canvass of the courthouse failed to bring to light any information. Mr. Gautsch adjusted his thinking cap, took a nibble in his belt and thought it over. Then he called Miss Lily M. E. Dorson, city librarian and told her his troubles. She told him to call the library in five minutes. He did and learned that there is a West Salem in Edwards county, Illinois; in Wayne county, Ohio; in Mercer county, Pennsylvania; besides the one in La Crosse county.

There is a Table Mountain in Marin county, California; in Tuolumne county, California; in Pickens county, South Carolina; Cape Town, South Africa and that there is a hamlet called Table Mountain in Pickens county, S. C.

Baught is a white, red, round, concretionary, earthy or clay like aluminum ferric hydroxide, Al₂O₃·2H₂O, that the principal source of the metal is aluminum. It is largely used in preparation of aluminum and alumina and for the lining of furnaces exposed to intense heat.

On To Scene of Battle
That was enough for Mr. Gautsch. He proceeded to West Salem, La Crosse county, promising the first person he met was the village barber. No he hadn't heard of any eagle being shot in that vicinity. The Mr. Barnett browsed around Main street. He happened to pass a photographer's shop, in whose window were two stuffed birds. Entering the shoe store he saw a large mounted eagle, whose wings spread out to their fullest extent. It was a magnificent looking bird and resembled the one shown in the news paper clipping.

The next persons on Mr. Gautsch's list were Barnett and Leitch, they lived in West Salem, all right, when they learned who Mr. Gautsch was and what his mission was, on the real story of the "Front Eagle Falls After Battle" came out.

They Borrowed Eagle
Barnett and Leitch borrowed the stuffed eagle from the photographer went out to Table Rock, not mountain. The bird was posed in the brush, Barnett stepped back for maybe it was Leitch (or again maybe it was Barnett) snatched the camera. Praxtel! They had a picture of a great hunter bagging a fine, warlike specimen of the American eagle. Atta boy! Send it to a Milwaukee paper. It will be published and will give the "boys" at the barber shop, the shoe shop and the photographer, also the Idle Hour and Coney lunch rooms a "big laugh."

Well, it was published. It did give "Main street," West Salem, a "big laugh" and it also started the wheels of the conservation commission a-spinning and a humming along the possible trail of a wild life law violator.

But Mr. Gautsch has reported to Mr. Barber that no eagle really was killed, that it merely was a little joke on the part of the "boys" on "Main Street," West Salem.

BLAINE SCORES RAIL LAW IN NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE TO STATE

Must Reorganize Transportation Systems Before Return to Normalcy is Assured

EXPRESSES HOPE FOR SPEEDY REPEAL OF ESCH-CUMMINS ACT

"Wisconsin First to Raise Voice Against Iniquitous Law"

MADISON, Wis.—The Esch-Cummins transportation act is flayed by Gov. J. J. Blaine today, in a New Year's message to the people of Wisconsin in which he expresses the belief that "an entire reorganization of our transportation systems under just law will be necessary before there is a general return to economic conditions that produce contentment and happiness."

The governor says that he "has faith and confidence that the blessings of a happy and prosperous New Year are possible to be realized. With slow progress," he declares, "the darkness of adversity is passing and with its passing the light of better times will break."

His message continues as follows: "Wisconsin, in common with other parts of this country and of the world, has paid the toll of congressional and economic folly. In some degree we are consoled by the fact that due to the wisdom of our own people we have not suffered to the extent of some of the other states of the Union."

However, our farmers, industrial and railroad workers, manufacturers and merchants have been made to feel the evil effects of the transportation act foisted upon us through the Esch-Cummins law, but fortunately the people of the entire country are awakening to its iniquities and Congress is taking steps that portend to modification if not the absolute repeal of this iniquitous statute.

"Wisconsin was the first state to realize the iniquities of this measure. Its Congressional vote, by an overwhelming majority, registered its protest at the time of its enactment. "Wisconsin, ever watchful of the people, took the lead and now we are hopeful that a majority in Congress will take a stand to relieve the country from the stifling effects of that law."

"With the return of the possibility of profitable interchange, under a transportation law that will not require toll to be paid upon fictitious values and watered stock, the farmers may again market their products at a fair return, the purchasing power of agriculture will be increased, manufacturing will be stimulated and men who are willing to work but forced into idleness will find employment."

"It is true that the will of the people may be deflected again and again but we can see the future pregnant with the possibilities for the success of justice and of right, and it is this hope for success that gives the people strength to struggle on until the last wrong has been righted."

THE FAMILY ALBUM A MOST ENJOYABLE ISEN CLUB PARTY

AN EXCEEDINGLY unique and most charming entertainment was given by the members of the Ilsen club Wednesday night at Pioneer hall when they presented "The Family Album," which proved a rare bit of amusement. It was under the management of Mrs. Emma Oberg in which she displayed wonderful talent and aptitude, for which she is noted. The stage had a setting of an old time home with all the quaintness of ancient furnishings even to the portraits on the walls. Mrs. Oberg in a colonial costume and powdered wig sat supreme in her home and as the characters were presented, introduced her ancestors and friends in the proper fashion giving to each just the hint of humor appropriate. The program was not only delightful but also an continuation of mirth from the first to the last "picture." Many of the costumes were real relics of the old colonial days found in trunks and chests in garrets, and others whose hard to distinguish a difference. The following is the cast of characters: great grandmother, Banghild Skarr; grandmother, Ada Streeter; father, O. L. Skarr; mother, Miss Ansgard; Mormon elder, Mr. C. J. Lien; suffragette, Miss Dorson; twins, Martha and Gunder Skarr; prima donna, Dr. Gunna; Gundersen and Dr. Vik; cousin, E. Forch; Dr. Kill'em Sure, Odlin J. Oyen; country music teacher, Mrs. Nels Thompson; Admiral, Dr. H. J. Hansen; Samoan woman, Miss Bore; Irish lad, James Stavrum; milk maid, Mrs. A. MRS. C. V. JOHNSON, who leaves soon with her family for Topkapi, Kan., to reside, was guest of honor at a happy surprise party Thursday night which was given at the home of Mrs. A. Daniell, 1319 State street. The honor guest was presented with a handsome necklace as a token from her friends. She was also given a letter shower, one from each guest, the dates for opening being distributed through the months to come, which will vary the monotony among strangers. Light refreshments were served to thirty-five guests.

THE ASSEMBLY held its holiday dance Friday night at the Odd Fellows' hall. It was a dinner-dance and one of the most delightful of the holiday festivities. About thirty couples were in attendance. Holcomb's orchestra furnished the music.

ON NEW YEAR'S eve the annual Sylvester ball will be given in accordance with the custom at Pioneer hall and on Monday night the holiday ball of the Knights of Pythias will also be held at Pioneer hall. The annual Elks' ball will be enjoyed Monday evening at the Elks' hall.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR AMERICAN BUSINESS DECLARES CHICAGOAN

Head of Meat Packers' Institute Points to Good Omen Found in Own Industry

CHICAGO, Ill.—The outlook is bright in the packing industry and, inferentially, in American business generally. Thomas E. Wilson, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, said in a statement Saturday.

"All business may find a good omen in the fact that the largest industry in the United States, slaughtering and meat packing—apparently finished the year 1921 with a normal annual production and that this production has not been crammed into warehouses but has passed freely into trade channels and thence into consumption," he said.

"A good augury for business in general also inheres in the fact that the nation's greatest industry after two years of severe trials and grievous losses is finally and definitely emerging into stable conditions and settling into a strong position."

After pointing out the importance of the foreign situation the statement declares that this will be largely affected by such basic problems as the reasonable adjustment of the German reparations; adjustment of national debts over a period of time; cessation in central Europe of printing of paper money which has not sufficient substantial backing and the adjustment of foreign exchange contingent, to a large extent on the foregoing factors.

YEAR 1921 CROWNS MANY NEW ATHLETIC CHAMPIONS IN U. S.

CHAMPIONS COME AND GO SOME CLING TO CROWNS FOR YEARS--OTHERS DON'T

Champions come and champions go. Some cling to their crowns for years, to others the title is little more than a passing fancy.

The year 1921 witnessed some remarkable overthrows in the world of champions. It was a year featured by the unusual in sport.

Willie Hoppe, one of the few champions who seemed to be able to hang on forever, holding the 18.2 billiard title, was finally dethroned. Hoppe fell before the mastery stroke of young Jake Schaefer. It was a peculiar remark of fate that Hoppe won the title from Schaefer's father, almost a dozen years ago.

It seemed fittingly proper that, if the title was to be wrested from the brilliant Hoppe, it should return to the Schaefer family. Hoppe, however, insists that the title was merely loaned. He is confident he will defeat young Schaefer in the return match scheduled for March.

Next to the surprise occasioned by the defeat of Hoppe, the absolute collapse of Mlle. Lenglen, the French tennis star, ranked next in importance.

Mlle. Lenglen, touted as the greatest woman player the game ever produced, was an absolute "bust."

LEONARD LEAPS TO 5 TO 1 SHOT OVER MITCHELL

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—From a 3 to 1 shot Bennie Leonard leaped to a 5 to 1 favorite over Pinkie Mitchell following his first workout here Friday afternoon. Benny's speed was a revelation. Even the fast Midget Smith could not keep up with him.

Leonard went through six rounds, two with Smith, two with Bob Miller, local water, and two with Eddie Merrie, featherweight. There is no question of Bennie being fit.

Stripped today, the champion looked as though he did not carry a 136 pounds. He was as a kid and joked his sparring partners as he boxed. Twice he upset Miller with left hand secured to favor his right hand little use of it.

CHICAGO TUMBLES IN DEFEAT BEFORE KNOX FIVE, 37-32

University of Chicago Outplayed in Every Department of the Contest

GALESTUR, Ill.—Outplaying its opponent in every department, Knox college defeated the University of Chicago basketball five Thursday night in a fast and well played game, 37 to 32. The Chicago offense was featured by long shots, Halliday and Romney sinking unusual baskets until the final moments. The score was practically even, when several long baskets gave the locals a victory.

Chicago led at the end of the half, 17 to 10, but a sudden spurt placed Knox in the lead at the second opening, and the margin was held to the finish. Albro, Knox forward, led in scoring with 14 points. Campbell of Knox and Halliday of Chicago followed with ten each.

Campbell, Albro, and Crabbe were the stars for Knox, while Romney and McGuire were forced to leave the contest because of personal fouls.

START SUIT AGAINST ST. CROIX BANKERS

MADISON, Wis.—The attorney general has been informed that formal actions against 14 bankers in St. Croix county, charged with combining to fuel down interest rates on public funds, was to be commenced Saturday. Criminal prosecutions for conspiracy will be instituted, it is said.

Other counties have inquired concerning the situation in St. Croix county where the banks are reported to have refused to pay more than 2 per cent on county funds and to have agreed to act through a central working bank. They say that they are investigating conditions in their own counties.

The attorney general's office may be called on to assist in the St. Croix county prosecutions.

EASTERNERS ARRIVE ON COAST READY TO BATTLE ON MONDAY

Given Initial Workout Shortly after Arrival in Drizzling Rain

PASADENA, Cal.—Washington and Jefferson, one of the undefeated eleven of the east which will give battle to California at Tournament park on Monday in the important intersection of football struggle, showed its wares to local fans for the first time Friday.

The squad, in charge of Coach Earl Neale and Graduate Manager Murphy, arrived in Pasadena shortly after 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. The party was met by W. F. Celler, chairman of the football committee of the Tournament of Roses Association and about 1,000 gridiron fans.

Following an impromptu reception the squad was taken to the hotel to prepare for practice. After the uniforms were adjusted the players were hustled into automobiles and taken to the Arcadia, Ballou school grounds, where they were put through a long drill in a drizzling rain.

The players, following nearly a week's stay across the continent, did not mind the elements and bent to their work in a manner which showed they will fight the "Bears" all the way on Monday.

The players were given plenty of practice in handling the slippery ball and ran through their plays in pleasing fashion. The aerial drill was followed by dummy tumbles, in which the defense expected to stop California's plays, was rehearsed.

Judge Gilbert, President of Sons of Norway, at Banquet, Brings Message to Local Society

"The Sons and Daughters of Norway love America above all else and the sons are willing and ready to lay down their lives for her," said Judge T. O. Gilbert of William, Minn., supreme president of the National Sons of Norway at the luteisk banquet given by the Sons and Daughters of Norway at the Chamber of Commerce.

"This is the country in which we enjoy the blessings of life. We also love Norway for what she has contributed to the world. We Norse claim that Norway contributed America to

"But, get down to our grandfathers and fathers' time. You all know what the Norse race has contributed to the upbuilding of the northwest. We owe America a debt of gratitude. The men who bravely received and never contributors of pieces anything doesn't accomplish much. I want my people to know they have received something and given something and that they have a right to hold up their heads."

Judge Gilbert then pleaded that the Norwegians do not cast aside the traditions of their forefathers for in so doing, they would cast off their religion. The inculcation of the culture of Norway was one of the aims of the Norwegians, the judge declared, the planting of the best in the life

ORIENTAL PRELATE VISITS LA CROSSE—FRIENDSHIP FOR BRAZIL—AIRPLANE LAUNCHER

SIGN SAYS THEY ARE, BUT ARE THEY?—First photo of the Prince of Wales in Bombay, India. An immense sign read "Tell Daddy We Are All Happy Under British Rule." But rioting in other quarters leaves doubt about that.

LA CROSSE'S DISTINGUISHED GUEST—Most Reverend Maximus Sath, Archbishop of Tyre, the first prelate of the Greek Catholic church to visit the United States, is a guest in La Crosse holiday week. He is visiting Rev. Philip Saluone, 1004 Caledonia street. His Grace will say pontifical high mass in St. Joseph's Cathedral on Sunday.

THIS DOG BAFLED HIGHWAYMEN—If the hold-up man who stopped P. W. Humberg, West Roxbury, Mass., had known the nature of a police dog he probably would not have molested Humberg. "Stick 'em up!" he commanded as he poked a gun in Humberg's ribs. Betty, the dog, knocked down the bandit who leaped a fence and fled.

POOL CHAMP—Ralph Greenleaf (above), national pocket billiard champion, defeated Arthur Woods, challenger in the first two blocks of their match at Hotel Astor, New York, 305 to 210.

STYLE PICTURE—This picture shows Mrs. Harding buying the first Thrift Bond of the new series, but women will probably be more interested in the new fur coat the First Lady is wearing.

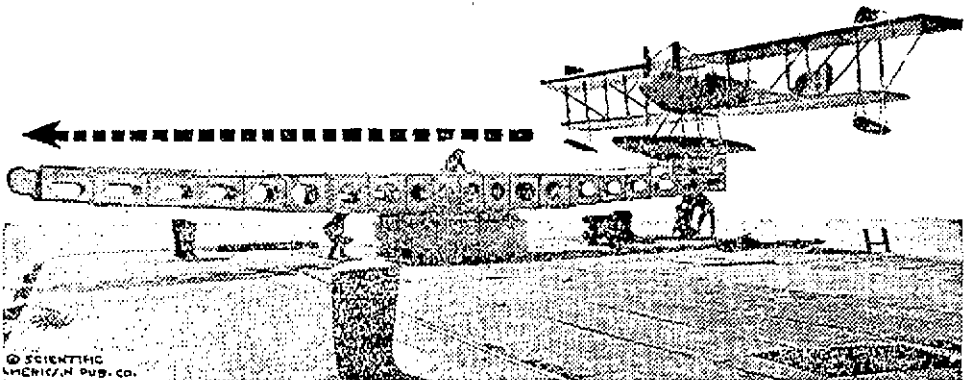

MURDERED CHILD—Theresa Kucharski, five, was fiendishly murdered and her body stuffed in a suitcase in a hotel at New Brunswick, N. J. She was last seen with a middle-aged man. He is threatened with lynching. Theresa's death is the latest of a number of brutal murders of children in New Jersey and New York.

PEACE PEN—Lloyd George evidently considered Sir Hamar Greenwood as the one man who had done most to bring about Irish peace, for he presented the pen with which he signed the treaty to Lady Greenwood. She's holding the pen.

MRS. ROOSEVELT—Visitors to Washington may see Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt almost any fair morning cantering along bridle paths on her white mount. The wife of the assistant secretary of the navy still uses the side saddle.

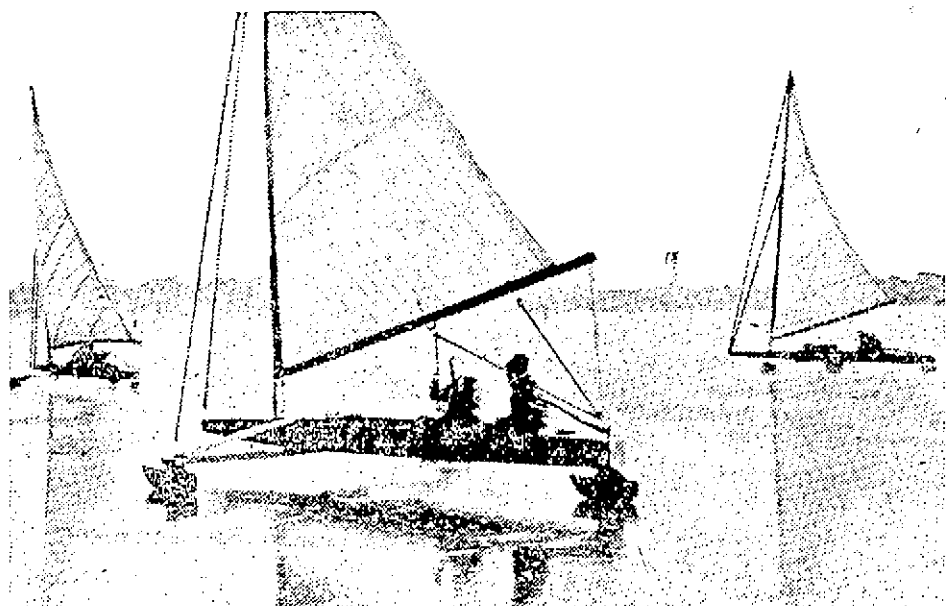

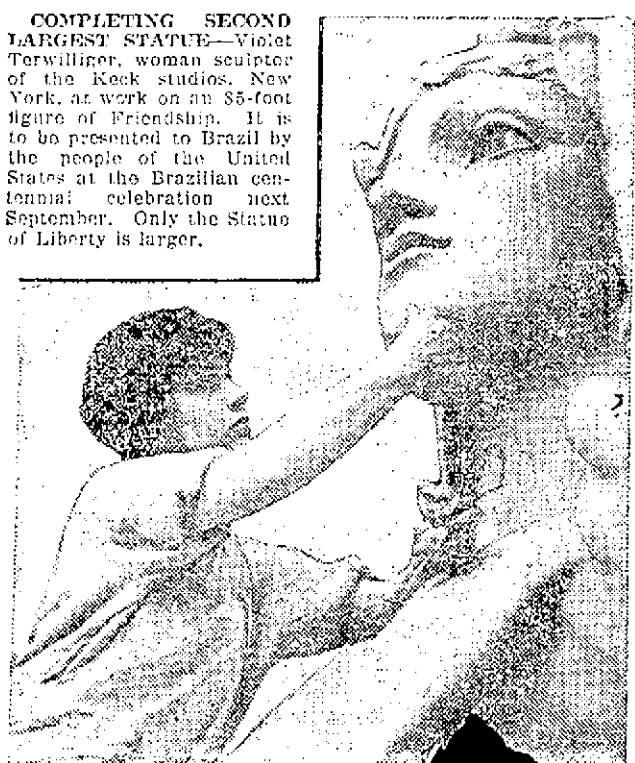

ONE ANSWER TO BOMBING PLANES—A turntable catapult has been devised at the Philadelphia Navy Yard for the launching of airplanes from battleships. The catapult gives the plane sufficient speed to lift it in the air and begin its flight. The turntable allows the launching of the plane into the wind without changing the ship's course. Thus battleships at sea are enabled to send out fighting planes to meet bombing planes, such as destroyed the ex-German warships in the recent spectacular tests of the Virginia coast.

FLYING AVIATRIX—Bertha Rhinhardt, champion of Switzerland, literally flies on her wings. She wears an aviator's helmet. Here she is pulling up on an Alps coasting track.

COMPLETING SECOND LARGEST STATUE—Violet Terwilliger, woman sculptor of the Keck studios, New York, at work on an 85-foot figure of Friendship. It is to be presented to Brazil by the people of the United States at the Brazilian centennial celebration next September. Only the Statue of Liberty is larger.

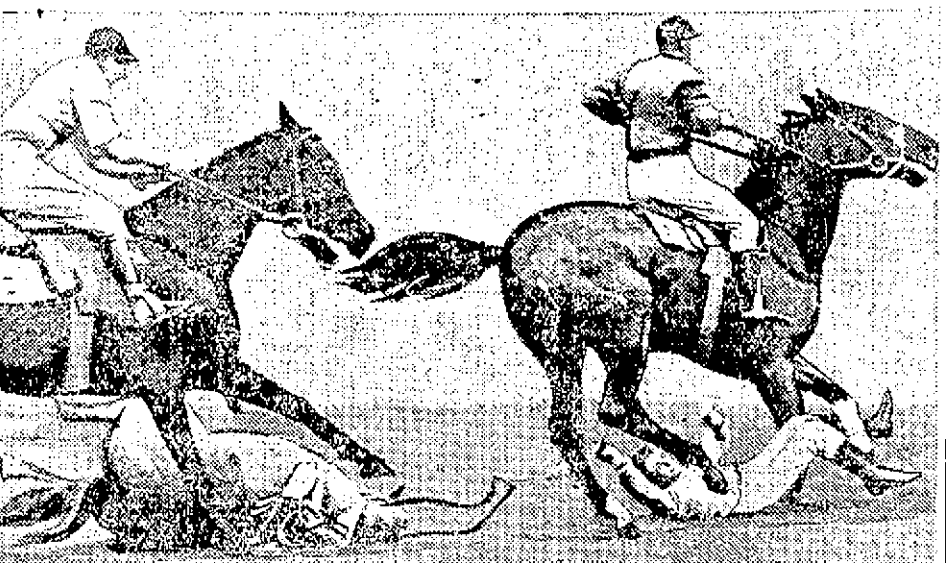

BERLIN PLAYS ON THE ICE—Many new ideas in ice yacht racing were evolved at the opening of the season at Potsdam, Germany. The above is a race staged by the Potsdam Yacht Club. The skating yacht is one of the most popular sports in Germany.

NOT EXACTLY A DUTCH TREAT—Everybody skates in Holland. William Phillips, United States minister, and Mrs. Phillips wanted to be in the skate, so to speak. But judging from their stance and the slant of their ankles it doesn't look like they're enjoying the sport.

LIKE THIS!—Coach Jim Rice is instructing Ralph E. Swinburne, captain of the Columbia crew, in a few fine points. Columbia's oarsmen are fast getting in trim under Rice's instruction.

ESCAPES UNINJURED—This remarkable photograph of a thrilling spill in a race was made at Kempton, England. Jockey Escott's mount went down when he was leading the field. Neither horse nor rider was injured. That was because a horse will not willingly step upon any living thing in its path. So, this man really isn't in the danger he seems to be.

SOME 1921 AUTOMOBILE FIGURES.

In the year just ending the total production of automobiles of all makes was approximately 1,700,000. Of these nearly 1,000,000, or much more than half the total production, were Fords.

In La Crosse we delivered at retail during the year 623 new Fords. Which makes 1921 the biggest year we ever had.

Louis Merlo, the implement dealer at Bangor, bought a new Ford Coupe the other day.

FORDSONS GOING STRONG.

We used to think that when the farmers got their harvest all in we could put our tractors away on the shelf and leave them there till the spring plowing. But this winter we have had to keep our Fordsons all tuned up ready for immediate delivery. Last week we delivered two—one to A. G. Vonderheide of West Salem, the other to Gregorio Cina of Genoa.

According to these practical farmers, winter with its wood sawing, feed grinding and many other chores that can be done by machine, is just the time a farmer needs a Fordson.

THE USED CAR PROBLEM.

One of the most talked-of problems facing the Automobile Dealer today is the problem of disposing of the ever-increasing number of used cars which he is obliged to trade in.

Nearly everybody has an automobile nowadays and the sale of a new car means the taking in of an old one. The problem is to dispose of this old car quickly and without loss.

It is clear that an old car will sell quickly if the selling price is right, and that is all there is to the problem.

During the year just ending we traded in 260 old cars. They were cars of every make you ever heard of, from Cadillacs to Fords, and we sold them all—quickly and without loss. We were able to do this because we placed a very low trade-in price on the old car and then sold it at that price—without profit.

We Wish You All a Happy New Year
